

I believe residents are always the best people to listen to when discussing possible changes/planning to their environment.

I live in Upper Clatford and Travelling from Upper Clatford to Goodworth Clatford is not safe. It has always been a hazzardous route. There is plenty of space at the side of the road for a footpath, but unfortunately, there is none. Because of this, pedestrians have to jump into the grass verge when a vehicle is passing (usually at speed). I certainly wouldn't want any children to travel this way on their own.

There are also very few busses. Only a couple a day, they are so infrequent that they are not a viable option. Because of this, I believe Upper Clatford and Anna Valley should be placed in tier 4. (Unless, a safe footpath is built between the villages).

I feel part of village life and help out where I can. I believe a local gap policy would be very effective in preserving my sense of identity/community.

I feel sick to the stomach just the thought of sewage being discharged into local streams. As a school teacher (and parent) I fear for the health of the local children. Before any additional development occurs, adequate wastewater treatment/infrastructure must be put in place.

Kind regards

Kate Scott
