In Test Valley, we are still very fortunate to live in an unspoilt part of rural England and in an area renowned globally for its chalk streams. We have to be careful not to ruin this by paving this over with extended suburbia affecting rural villages. Of course we have to make provision for new housing but this has to be done sensitively so that the natural amenity that is our countryside is not ruined for future generations. Furthermore, there needs to be action taken to improve Andover town centre. There has been large scale housing development in recent years with no thought given to how we make the town centre a more attractive place and encourage people to stay in the town rather than travel to Winchester, Salisbury or Newbury. With the growth in online shopping, there is also scope to do something really imaginative and reduce the retail area in Andover to provide more amenities and housing in the town centre.
