I am opposed to the destruction of established woodland especially with global warming being as it is. Woodlands not only help absorb co2 but are homes to many species of wildlife. Why can't the Council put restrictions in place that force developers to look after the natural world, like keeping established trees and hedgerows and if they don't the companies will receive a huge fine. All companies run on money let's start actually caring about the community the Council is supposed to look after. Have we not learnt anything from covid and how important nature is to our health.
